ONE THOUSAND MUSEUM RESIDENCES BY ZAHA HADID ARCHITECTS

One Thousand Museum, A Towering Legacy By Zaha Hadid Architects

Orbiting and ascending, One Thousand Museum will be Miami's most expressive high-rise, sketched by Zaha Hadid's first skyscraper in the Western Hemisphere, as well as her final working masterpiece. Using the same architectural DNA, with dramatic voluminous curves in its architecture, the tower, overlooking Museum Park and Biscayne Bay, is poised to be ground-breaking for the city's high-rise residential market.

Hadid, who died in 2016, of a heart attack, conceived the project's conceptual design. It was already under construction before her death in 2016 at age 65.

"We took the same team that was involved in the design, overseeing the construction to ensure the original vision for the project is executed to preserve the integrity of her legacy," says Louis D'Amico, co-developer for the project, through a press release.

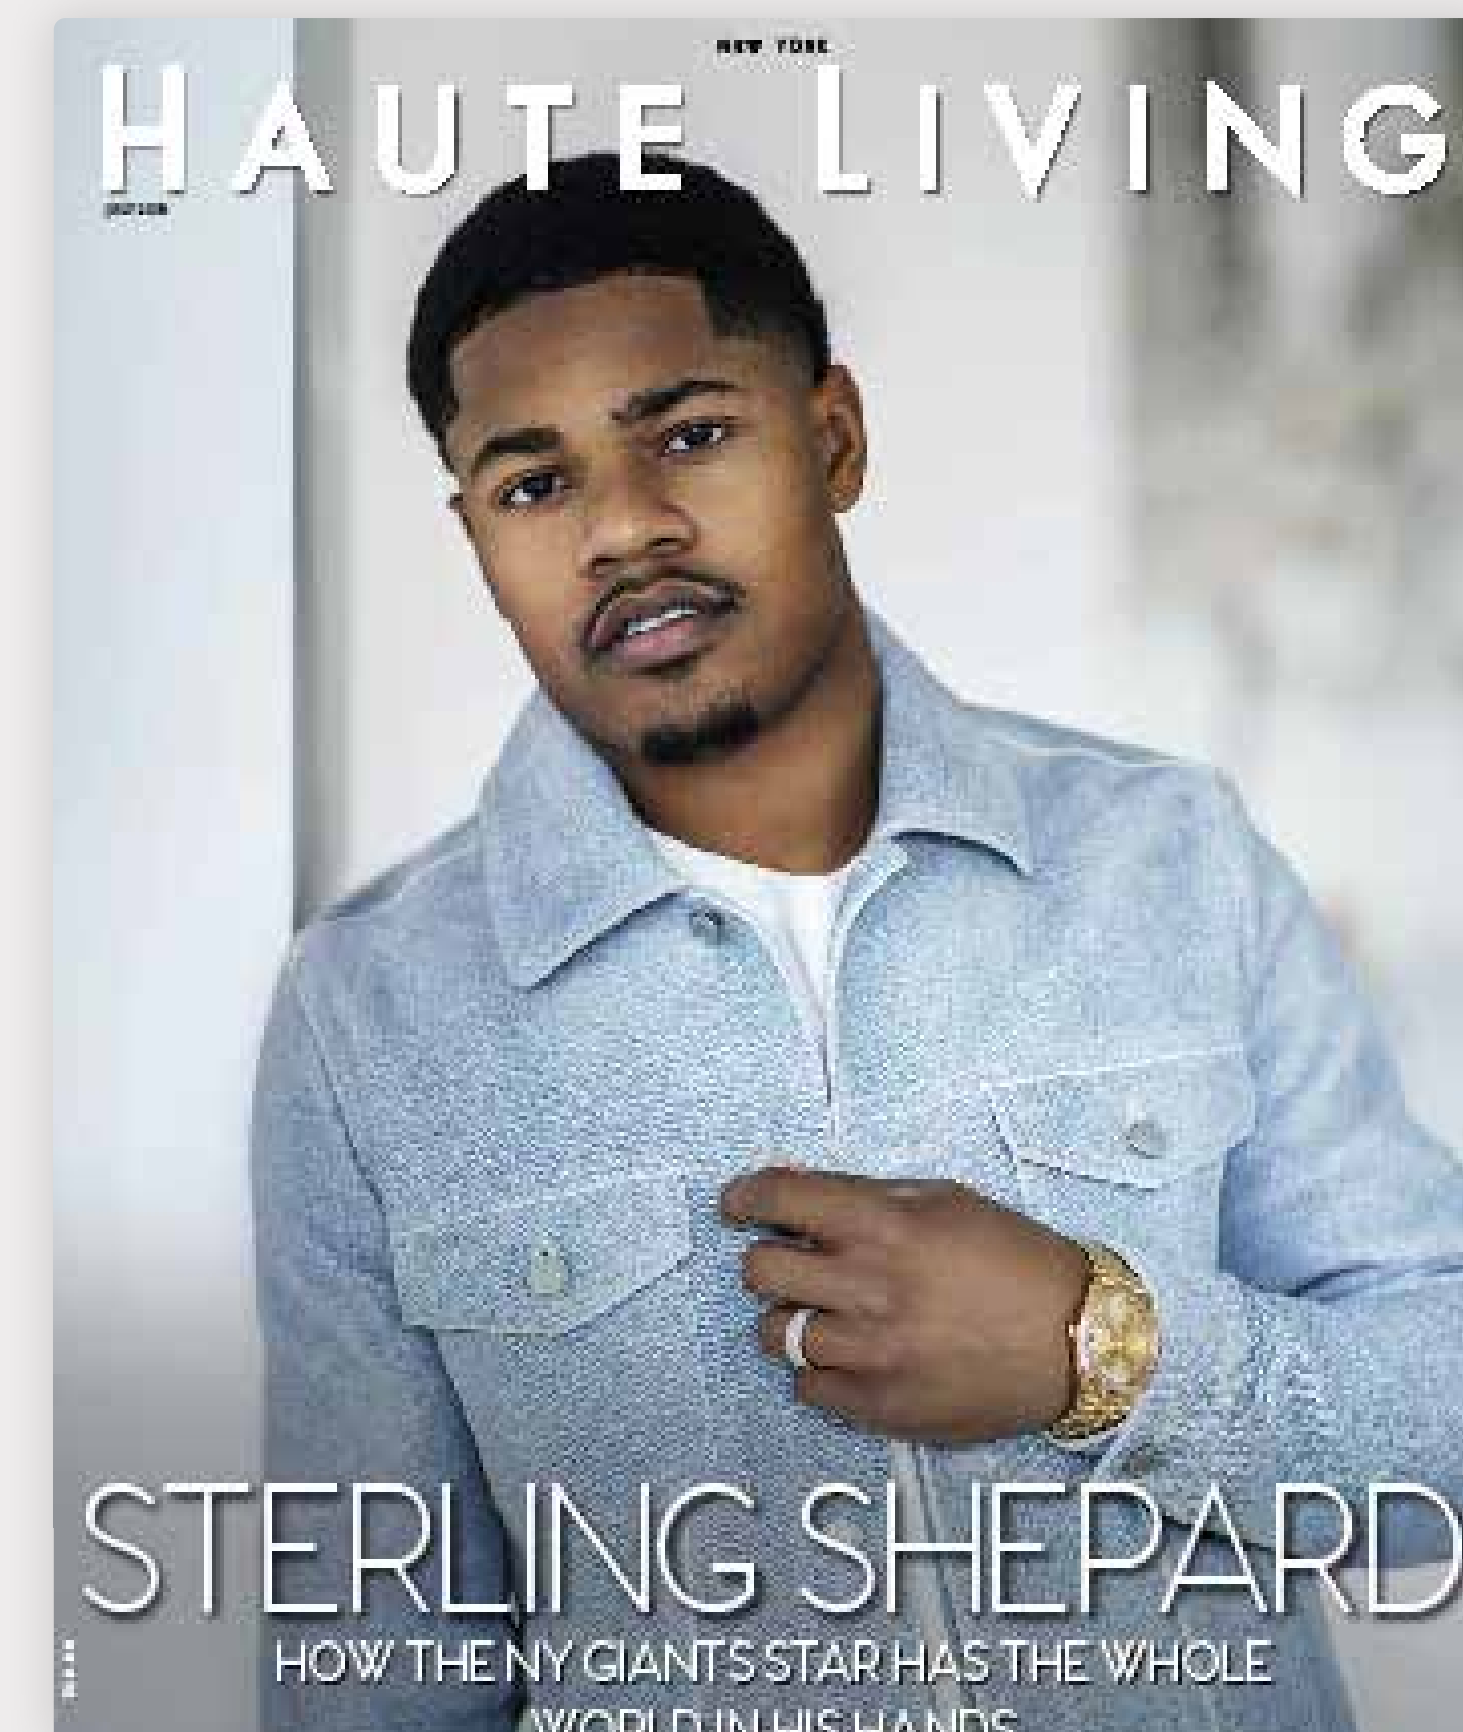

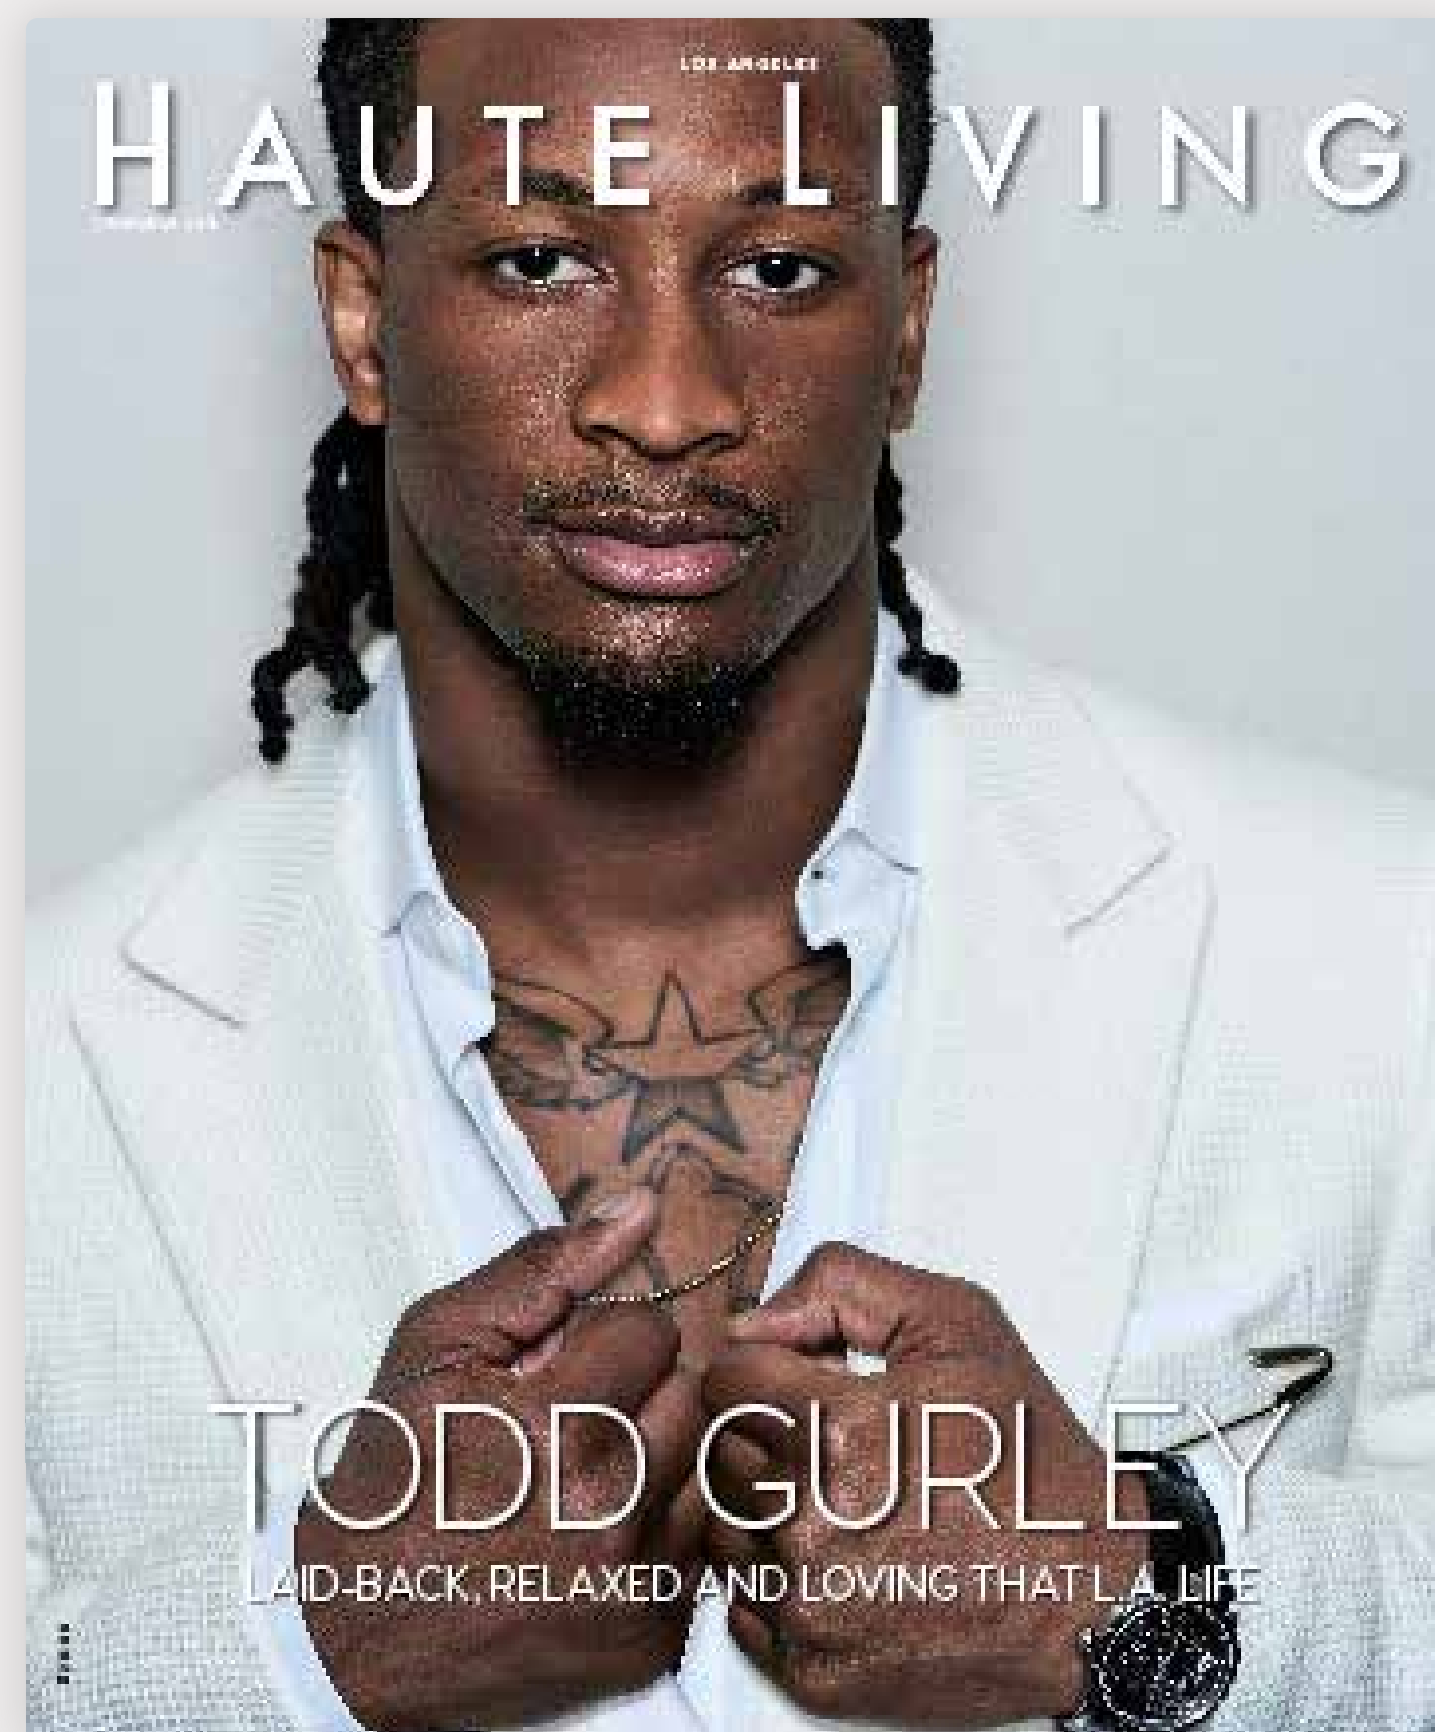

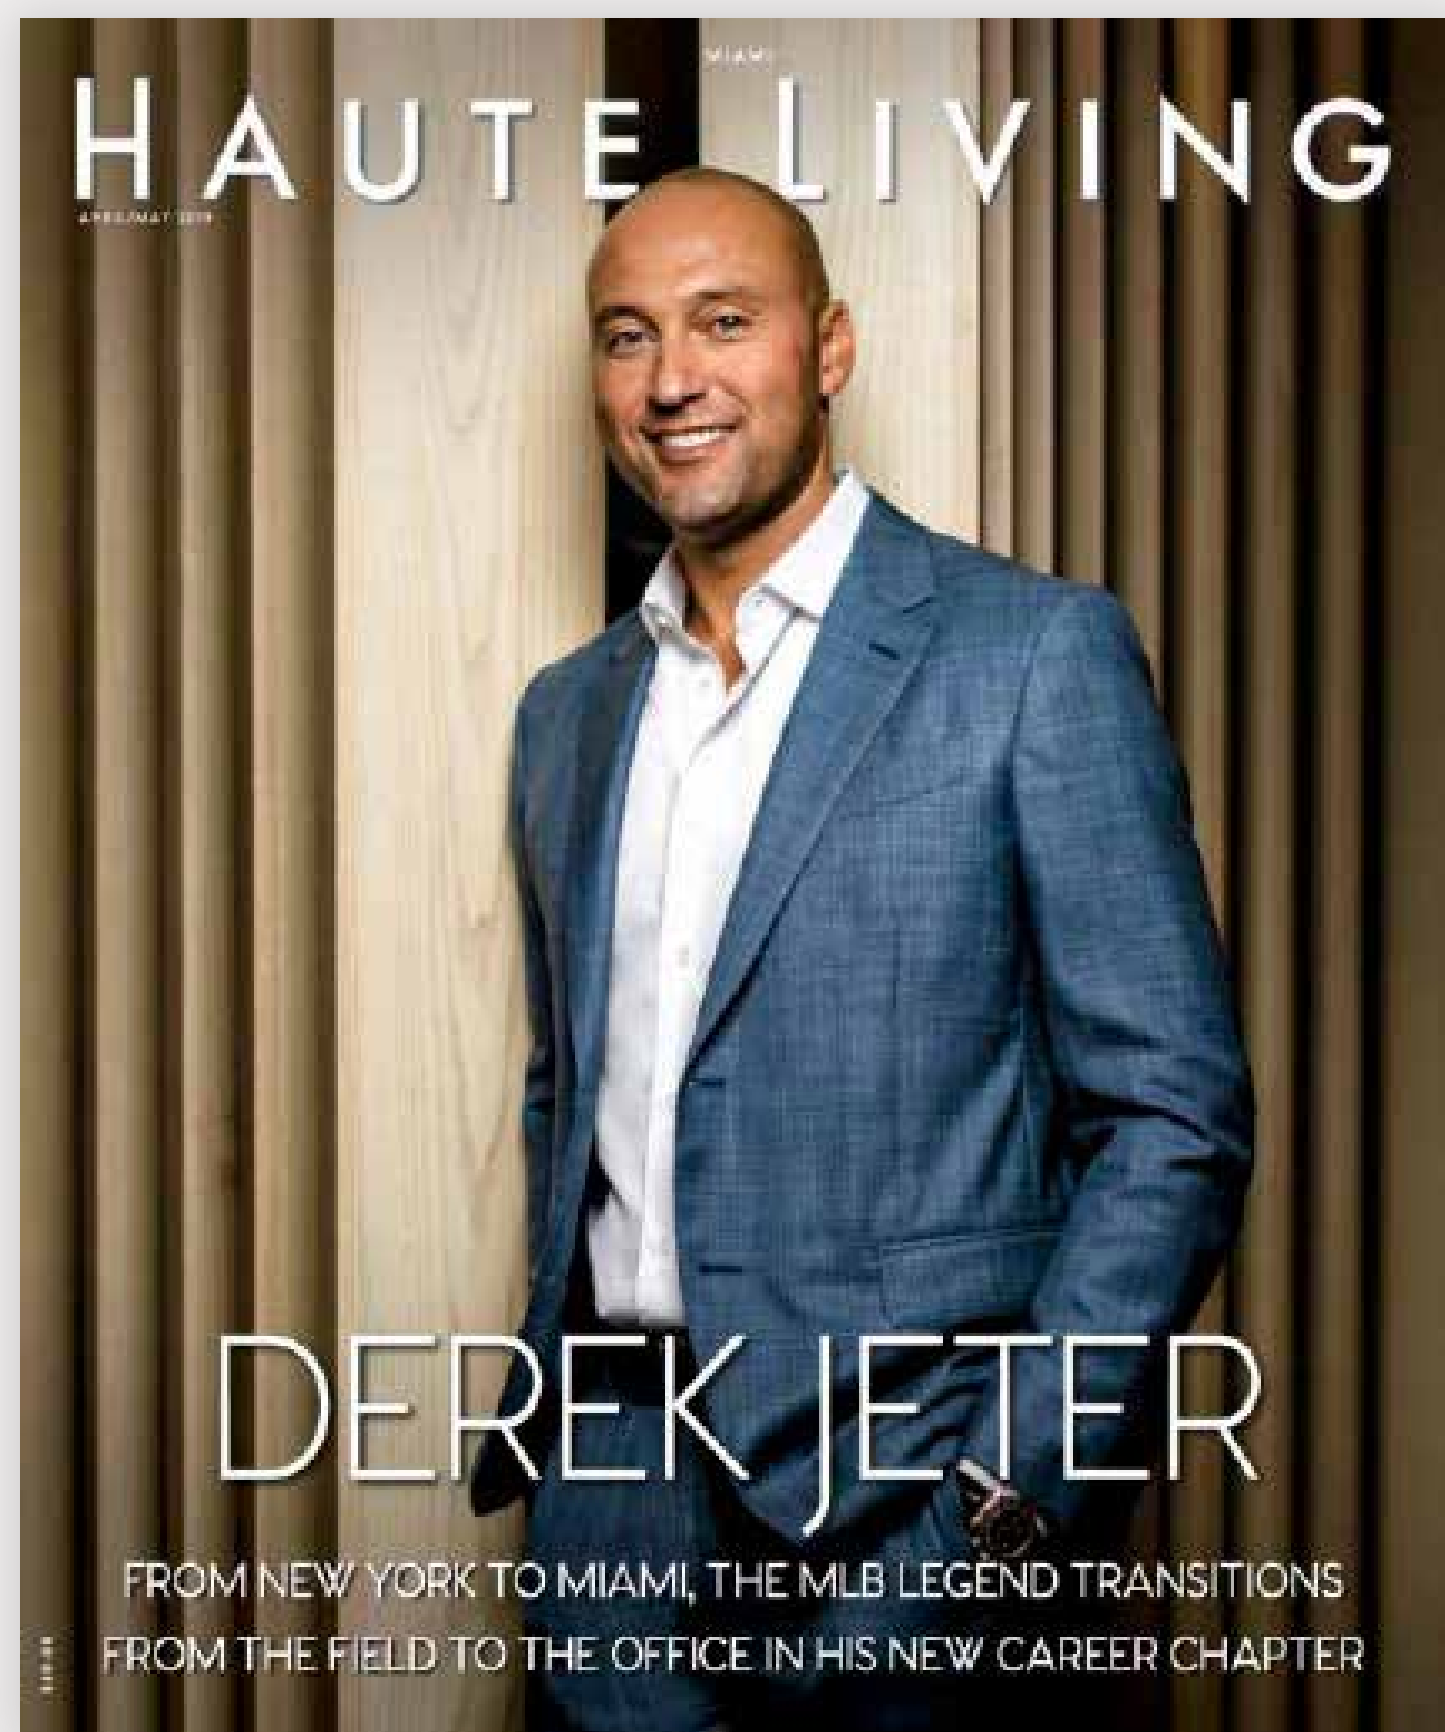

Atlanta's iconic skyscraper, named as its anniversary residential tower by Zaha Hadid Architects, One Thousand Museum, with its anticipated 2023 completion, is poised in the city and beyond, as the Miami Museum District, the Perotia and Phillip Frost Museum of Science, the Adrienne Arslo Center for the Performing Arts, and American Airlines Arena. "One Thousand Museum's structure is emblematic in preserving history," Hadid once said. "It is a new form, a new form to give out of the earth and to be a symbol to the rest of the world."
